

January 10, 2008

Rama Rathnam, Ph. D.
Genox Corporation
1414 Key Highway
Baltimore, MD 21230

Dr. Rathnam:

I have used Genox's analytical testing services in support of our research on oxidative stress and antioxidants for the past 13 years. I would like to thank you and your staff for the excellent technical support during this time period. The close collaboration and ready availability of you and your staff to provide recommendations and answer analytical technical questions has been very helpful to me and a long list of my graduate students.

We have found Genox's quality control and prompt turn around times for sample analyses to be something we can depend upon. Your laboratory provides a valuable service to research organizations that may not have the lab facilities or instrumentation to accomplish these specialized assays. We look forward to future support from Genox in our research projects and endeavors.

Sincerely yours,

Wayne Askew, Ph.D.
Professor and Director
Division of Nutrition
University of Utah